MISSIESIPTI AFFAIRS -The following extract ern gentleman and soldier contains some very NEW ORLEANS, LA., October 27, 190

MY DEAR FRIEND: I reached home last Snu I stopped a day at l'aducat, a day at Cairo, a v at New Madrid. I also spent acveral days at Memphia, Grenada, Canton, and Jackson. I stayed two days at Jackson, and was pleased with the Legislature. The members are nearly all ex-Confederate officers, and, feeling the responeibility of their positions, are acting in good faith. There may not be very much talent among them, or rather political experience, out there is a great deal of moral con honesty, and they will not be diverted from doing what they conceive to be their duty by any teide clamor. The negro is a thousand times safer in their hands than he would be in the ands of the radicals, for I heard nothing but the kindest treatment suggested-compatible with their nature and interest. The soldiers of the South acknowledge that the negroes deserve kindly treatment, because with every opportunity and every inducement that uld be offered them-Yankee armies and seedom-shrieking preachers continually passthe largest proportion of them, yes, at st nine ont of every ten remained faithful, and had to be forced away when they went, Very few volunteered except to pravent starvation, and all, who now can, get their old masters to employ them. Not one revolt, not one outrate upon former masters has proved the reit-erated cry of crue'y which the anti-slavery world has been so fond of nttering; and the

AGAIN—DEATH AM A DEMOCRAT.

In talking of Death I am reminded of his invincible democracy. If e is in reality the only democrat upon earth who is no respecter of persons. His democracy is sublime. You capnot buy him for gold, nor brite him by office. He enters the palace and the hovel with the same imperial dignity. The maiden with the raven tresses, and the old man with the silvered hairs he greets with equal benignity. The vigorous and the strong, the sickly and the emaciated receive equal favors. Your consumptive and weak-inuged patient, as well as your giant with the power of Jupiter and the voice of thunder, receives equal treatment. The poor and poverty-stricken, the rich and affluent, he treats alike. Peets, statesmen, warriors, kings, tyrants, beggars, are all alike to Death Like the sun that lights no the heavens, this pale ghest of the grave showers his glits upon the rich and poor, the famous and the obscure, with equal courteey. The humblest peasant girl is to him as the a victim as the most heautiful queen. He wils for sacrifices within the sacred sanctuaries of the church, and with equal composure knows at the door of the brothel. Color and creed, race and relizion, are alike to him. Death knows no selfashness What a grand subject would The Democracy of Death make for an eloquent divine. One cannot write on such a theme. The words, phrases, sentences, and thoughts should come guising not write on each a treme. The words purases sentences, and thoughts should come guishin from the soul, warm with vigorous life; com like the lightning's flash, and the roar of thur der be in harmony with a text so enblime.

In Matsell's dictionary of slang phrases and abreviations used by the thieves of New York and London the word "donced" means. In more polite slang, being "done for," or "taken in," and literally expresses "awindling, robbery." So much as a necessary introduction, especially designed for those who have neither thetaste nor time to study thieves vocabularies, and we now proceed. An old gentleman, calling himself a Kentuckian, while parading calling himself a Kentuckian, while parading upon one of our most fashionable streets, met with a beautiful damsel, whose smiles so factinated him that the proverbal gallantry of his native State came gushing to his pleased heart. Remembering that hesitation never won woman's love, he boldly offered to gallant her, which gallantry was freely accepted. The loving couple continued their peregrinations until striving in front of the great palace saloons with which our city abounds. Tase lady wished to step in a mement, and, inviting her comcratic" party of New Jersey-whatever may be intional Amendment. Didn't it know that this amendment is one of the things which the perican people had made up their minds about? Didn't the 'Democratic" party of New urey know that it is necless to war against what is inevitable, against fate, against destiny, against Providence, and against the Americoole? If the "Democratic" party of New Jersey didn't know this somebody should have told it. The said party in that State is evidently hehind the times. It may have been taking a map, and possibly may not be aware of the fact that this is the year of grace 1865, and after the war. New Jersey is a gallant, patriotic litthe State, and we always liked her; but some of her politicians are manifestly a little drowsycousins to some of the same tribe in this Stateor it may be that because they opposed abolition in former days when it was patriotic and a virtue and a duty to oppose abolition, itasmuch as abolition was disunion and civil war, they must now do it and must always do it, though numetances have so changed as com rletely to upset every conservative man's position upon the question, and though opposiion to the adoption of the Constitutional Amendment, prohibiting slavery throughout the country, is simply opposition to the restoration of peace and opposition to the Union. utterly oblivious of current events, +> absoly incapable of keeping step with the great ovements of the age and the revolutions tich have taken and are taking place, that they cannot alter in the least degree the politfifteen, or twenty years ago. They are afraid they shall be inconsisient—that is, they are raid they shall exhibit to the world the great fact that ten or fifteen years ago they were fallible, or were not quite capable of controlling Providential events. "Did you say the thing was black?" Aye, sir." "Well, it turns out to be white." "I don't care for that. It is black nevertheless." There are some such people. They can never surrender a prejudice nowever strongly or clearly the public good The American people have decreed the ex-

If it were written in letters of blood and are across the heavens, so that every man could read it in the light of the sus, the great truth ould not and could not be more evident to the mind of every thinking man than it now is. That blindness which refuses to see it is amazg. For any party to war against it is the intion of madness, and certain destruction to t as well. Many of the men who voted against the Constitutional Amendment candidates of this State at the August election now ridicule the idea of pretending to prop up and re-establish the institution of slavery in the United States. They know it to be utterly impossible. anyass, to raise the Roman Empire from the grave to which thousands of centuries have consigned it, and reinvest a pagan Casar with all sbjecte and slaves of the Seven-billed City. The great institution of elavery has been destroyed. It received a dreadful blow, in our judgment, in 1857, when the Missouri Compromise was repealed; the dogs of war were even then let loose. This is the truth; it is God's and mankind's truth Hundreds of thousands know with what cornectness and perseverance we argued and protested and remonstrated againt the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, and how strongly and vehemently we assured Congress and the nation that such a measure would raise ap and strengthen four-fold the anti-slavery or Reput lican party, then dead, and make it the onto lling power of the nation.

The repeal was insanely passed. Weil' our redi ous as to the instant starting up of a mighty Republican and anti-slavery party were verified immediately. A political uprising like that was never known upon this continent. The new-born or rather revivined party roared and swept abroad like a tempest. Nothing could withstand it; nothing did. Knowing the wild temper of the South, we thought that we foresaw the dark and the red future. We were not nistaken. Though jeered by men North and man South and men everywhere, we were not nintaken. We were no prophet, but, if we had been as great a one as Isaiah, we could not have uttered a truer prophecy than we did

In the Missouri Compromise had not been repealed, there would have been after the time of the repeal, as there was then, no Republican The repeal extended to the party the hand of resurrection. That party, as we have said, sprang from its tomb with ten times its old strength. It carried the elections. The old sutagonism between the North and the came fierce and inveterate. The South, rendered insane by passion, would not even respect a regular Presidential election. She secession, and secession was rebellion, and rebellion was war.

No justification, not the alightest apology would we or could we offer for the South's to Mr. Beccher's disigns, should be somewhat med retellion, but, mad as it was, it would allayed by reading the denunciations which the never have occurred but for the mad repeal of disting nished pastor of Plymouth Church is rethe Missouri Compromise.

We hold that the moral law day shall come in all its splendor, we waik in darkness, among pit-falle and snares. Government can no more trample upon the great rule of right than individuals can. It men do wrong they must suffer the penalty of transgression; and il governments do wrong, they must suffer internal disorder and convultates. sions. Oppression is an certain to bring put isliment upon itself as drunkenness. But wh med we generalize upon this great truth, when we have just witnessed the most wonderful il-hostration of it which the world has ever seen? How sharply has the sword of Elernal Justice moved down the flower of the land, because we were too proud, too corrupt, too avarleious to do right! Whether the end is yet we do not know, but surely no wise man will provoke Almighty Justice still further, by still madly refueing to do right to all men.

Nash i'e Press in Times. This is eloquently spoken, but we much doubt bether it is true and just in its length and breadth. Certainly there is a superintending ovidence, but that Providence, we approbend, does not a ways, or even generally, make ment of the world. In fact the world's history is to a great extent, and probably for the most part, a history of successful and trimmphant wrong and ontrage and oppression, perpetrated by ambitious and gullty nations and peoples upon comparatively weak and unoffending ones Suprendous oppressions, as in the cases of England and Austria, to say nothing of the dark annals of ancient times, have been practiced by the powerful muon the feeble, and the All-Wise and All-Just, for His own mighty and inscrutable ourposes, has permitted and does yet permit it. The graves, to which the feeble nations have been smitten down.will probably never give up

We are not prepared to believe that the Great Raler of the Universe visited this confatry with war any holders than those of Northern fanaties. If There are men so utterly wedded to the past, so He had done so, perhaps it would not have been true, as it undoubtedly is, that more Northern than Southern men, more of those battling against the dreadful crime of secession than those battling for it, would have perished in the war of the rebellion.

Mr. Seward, Secretary of State, recently ddiesed the following to the Provisional Gov-

Your letter of October 7th was received, and at mitted to the President. He is gratified summer to the Fresheet. He is granules with the favorable progress toward reorganiza-tion in Florida, and directs me to say that he regards the ratification by the Legislature of the Congressional amendment to the Constitu-tion of the United States as indispensable to a successful restoration of the true level relations. successful restoration of the true loyal relations between Florida and the other States, and equally indepensable to the return of peace and harmony throughout the Rapublic W. H. SEWARD.

The Secretary of State, in this document, certainly urges with strong emphasis, as we think he should do, the ratification of the Constitutional Amendment by Florida, but he does not say, as we think he should not, that her omis sion of such action could, would, or should, tar her restoration to the rights of a member of the Union. It is best for the States lately in rebellion, a well as for the Union, that they should ratify the Constitutional Amendment. They could not, would not, thereby, sacrifice any possible interest of their own. They know and acknowledge the fact that slavery is a dead institntion, buried deeper than plummet ever he barbaric splendor which of old dazzled the sounded, and there is no conceivable reason why they should not adopt a policy, which, while securing to themselves individually all ion to is the fact that the election of they could ask or aspire to, would secure at Legislature in New Jersey favorable to once the re-establishment of the domestic perce

net so soon as it is ratified by the Legislatures | the Federal Government ought not to insist of Iowa, California, and Oregon-which will npon a State's ratifying the Constitutional Amendment as a condition of her restoration New Jersey will make twenty-seven States rati- to her rights as a Federal State. If a State rec ognizes the fact that there is no longer a vestige whole number of States in the Union accord- of slavery within her own limits, as ever ing to the requirement of the Constitution, and Scuthern State does, surely this can be received thout counting Virginia, which, through the by the Government as enough. The Constitu Alexandria Legislature, adopted the amend- tional Amendment does not depend upon the South at all. It has been adopted by Virginia, and its absolutely certain adviction b New Jersey, California, Oregon, and Iowa, must of course make it a part of the Federal Constitution. Then why should the Federal Government care much whether any Southern State adopts or doesn't a lopt lt! Why let such a matter be an obstacle in the way of reconstruction

Georgia Atl AIRs. - A highly intelligent gen tleman who has recently traversed the large portion of Georgia, and who enjoyed whilst there five opportunities for gaining informain the grand purpose of promoting a spirit of rion, conversed with us a few days since in ref-national unity and harmony, and to prove to erence to effairs in that State. ters that the system of slavery was staked upon the result of the recent war, and that it has been utterly lost; and now they generally agree in the conviction that it would be best for themselves and the country that the negroes wer colonized. They have but little falth in the experiment of free negro labor. They believe that cotton can be profitably raised by white labor in five-sixths of the cotton-growing regions of Georgia. Indeed, the correctness of this belief has been demonstrated by the fact that many poor white men have become wealthy from raising cotton by their own personal labor Our informant states that this is true nearl everywhere in the South. Another evidence of the practicability of white labor in the South i furnished by the German gardeners near Sa vannab, who, in numerous instances, have accumulated wealth from the sale of vegetables raised by themselves for the markets of Savan nah and New York. The cultivation of cotton requires steady labor from March to November December. Such labor the planters, gen erally, think the negroes will not perform in the absence of compulsory measures. With Havana dates of the 23d and 23d raged with great force all over the Island. In Havana harbor many vessels drifted foul of the winarves and sunk. The admiral's flag-ship ran into a wharf, dragging with her several achoners and boats. Several launches with cargoes were sunk and tetally lost. Fifty vessels were more or less damaged. The streets of the city were filled with water a foot in depth. Houses and walls are blown down, roofs blown away, and the trees of the plazas prostrated. Two-thirds of tho coof of the theare was torn off. Tee country seats of the Captain-General and others entired considerably.

The passengers by the steamer Columbia presented a gold watch to Captain Barton, to raving that vessel and their lives from destruction on the pasage from New York. Hertires were put out, and she was thrown on her beamends. The sea washed completely over her, but, owing to the ciforts of her Captain and her atle engineers, she was carried through safely.

He does a little fishing-that avocation gives im plenty of time to awing his legs over a bank, crooning forth some of the tom-tom kind, and taking short dozes between the bites; he does a little gardening; he peddles a few baskete, calbathes and bead rosavies. This is all. He works, perhaps, two days a week. He la very liberal in his creed, keeping with ma h accupulosity: and as the closest of holidays, the Mahometan Sabbath, which is Friday, the lewish, which is Saturday, and the Christian, which is Sanday, with very likely a little Saint the slightest excuse for an old cocked hat and a pair of worsted epaulettes, to surmount his orban or his shoulders witha' he sticke spangles or tinsel over his caftan and with Pompey, and Quashie, and Quimbo, his brethren, he perambulates the streets thumping the tom-tom his country, and demanding the son;. In the whole of Algiers there is not a single reputable egro shop-keeper or artisan. You never see the negroes, now that they are free, carrying beavy burder- or doing any kind of arduo manual labor: that they leave to the Arabs ambo prefers to loaf and "slosh around."

No other business was transacted further than calling the docket cases. "Freedom of the press" has been estabished in Ruesia. It may be defined as "freedom with a vengeance." The editors of newspapers are allowed the option of having their leading articles pruned in manuscript, by the uthorities, or of publishing them in all their naked simplicity, thereby subjecting them, if offensive, to the clauses of a very horrifying code of pains and penalties. An editor found rafity, under the new system, of "undermining ublic confidence in the justice and efficien of the laws, or of the decrees of Governmen officials or judges." may be fined five bundred opbles, or sent for an indefinite period to the Ionee of Correction.

LOUNVILLE, KY., November 8, 19 5. To the Foitors of he Louisville Journal: Under the head of the Proceedings of the loard of Health in this morning's Journal notice a resolution offered by Dr. Goodman, thich was adopted from which I make the ollowing entract:
"4. To require of the apothecarise or persone mpounding or dispensing drugs in the city of disville, to undergo an examination to de-Louistuce, to unnergo an examination to de-cermine their competency by a committee ap-pointed for that purpose, and receive a certifi-tate therefrom before being allowed to pursue hair calling, under penalty of a fine also, to require of the proprietors of retail drug stores to comply with such regulations as may be prescribed.

require of the proprison of retail drag abres to comply with each regulations as may be prescribed."

This is a direct input to the druggists of Louisville. Dose the Board of Health, for one moment, suppose the science of Pharmacy to be extrearrient to the Practice of Medicine? Would it not be more sensible for a committee of Pharmacentists to be appointed to examine the capability of our worthy M. D. 's to write a prescription correctly? Do not we (the druggists) daily, when recipes are presented, have to send away a customer with some trivial excess, while we hunt up the practitioner, who has prescribed an article in a poisonous dose, or omitted some essential ingredients? Come, Messieure Doctors, attend to your practice of Medicine and we will attend to our Pharmacy. We are co-workerd, not your servants.

Should the Board of Health at its next session fall to make the 'amende hono-rable' by repealing the insulting clause, I would respectfully request the druggists and apothecaries of this city to publish a list with names data, etc., of those physicians who have, either by omission or commission, written erroneous prescriptions, and thereby enable the public to judge where the competency or incompetency lies Gentlemen of the Board of Health, please remember that you do not constitute the civilized world, and that all outside is barbarous. Yours, truly,

A PHARMACEUTIST.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[From the Dublin Nation, Oct. 14]

If the signe and portents be not misleading, Englard is likely soon to find, herself face to face with a foe more powerful than "I'rish Fenianism" Either England or America must eat her own words, or the arbitrament of war will be tried between thom

This week a cloud of ominous hue has suddenly darkened the western horizon. Long feared, it has come at last, and the reality is darker than any anticipation. The United Status has peremptorily demanded reparation from England for the depredations of the Alabama and the other British-boilt war ships of the late Confederate States army. England has peremptorily refused to admit the claim. The United States declares that it must be paid, and England, in language that clearly shows full knowledge of what the consequences may be, resolutely and haughtily answers "Never."

The gravity of the crisis is not concealed. The ground taken up on each side is such as to leave little room for compromise without hu militation. A painful acces of imminent danger files every heart in England. Right well men know that America has watched and waited for this her hour to avenge the bitter draught she had to quaff in the "Trent afair." Her hands now are free, and calmly, gravely, and desterminedly she now approaches England must refuse, but one which America, evidently for her own purposes, has long designed to preed, and now presses "with a vengeance."

How will it end? Will this war-cloud pass away; or will it burst in wrath? Will deep exapperation, long pent up, at length find vent in a struggle to a gravely and desterminedly she now approaches.

away; or will it burst in wrath? Will deep erasperation, long pent up, at length find vent in a struggie vengeful, deadly, and destructive?
England will not enter upon such a conflict lightly; but the language of Lord Russell is of that sobered and determined tone which shows the British cabinet to have well considered its ground, and taken its stand for wo or weal.
Will America follow up or recede from the gare a deliberately thrown down? The answer to all these questions will soon be hastening to us acrose the ocean. It is waited for in painful suspense and gloomy apprehension in England.
And Ireland! Alae! How is all this to affect her? Oh, for one hour of an Irish "Deek" among our people, and of a Francia Joseph on the throuse! If "the cannon of Josepappe" blew the first link from our fatters, what might not the Dahlgress of Sherman achieve!
